of General Secretaries to Be Cut Down. CHICAGO, May 17. Three ballots were taken to-day in the election for two additional Bishops by the General Conference of the Methodist Church, making five in all. By the returns of the last two elections, predictions were much altered. Dr. Joseph F. Berry, editor of the Epworth Herald and the Chicago candidate for the Bishopric, who appeared to be the favorite on the first three ballots, lost strength on the last two. Dr. Berry secured only 287 ballots in the fifth cast, which showed a loss of 35. Dr. Heary Spellmeyer, chairman of the Committee on Arrangements, seems to in the lead. Dr. Spellmeyer polled 249 votes on the fifth ballot, which was an increase of 84 over the fourth ballot. Dr. J. W. Hamilton,

LIVE TOPICS ABOUT TOWN.

Industrious chroniclers of the movements of that important European personage, the Princess de Wrede, have made it known here that the lady has succeeded in winning some suit from her husband which serves to make her title stick better than it ever did in the past. The history of the case has been printed more frequently than was really necessary, and the Princess, who was an Austrian music hall singer, has hitherto been defeated in all European courts in which she has sought to make good her right to her title or some other privileges which she demanded of her husband. Her first husband was a Russian, and they separated because the marriage had never been performed by a priest of the Greek Church, and it seems that this circumstance offered sufficient excuse to the of the Greek Church, and it seems that this circumstance offered sufficient excuse to the pious Slav to leave his wife. Her second husband was the Prince de Wrede. Last summer she came to this country, after a short visit here the winter before, and made one or two appearances in concert at Newport. New York society kept its self-possession in the presence of all her talent and her title, so the Princess returned home and New York saw nothing of her for a year. She used to be the leading figure in a foreign group that gathered in a Fifth avenue restaurant nearly every night two winters ago. That was her nearest approach to the heart of New York society, but now that her title has acquired additional adhesiveness she may contemplate another attempt on New York and Newport.

The Morgue attendants didn't remember the name, but they looked back through the records with the idea of reassuring the woman. Before they had looked far they discovered that Barry had waked into the hospital on March 27, suffering from gastritis, and had died two hours later. He had described himself as horneless and friendless, so his body was taken to the Morgue, where it was kept till April 3. Three names were placed before the assembly. The first was presented by Dr. W. T. Ferguson of Bowling Green, Ky. who nominated the Rev. Ira Landreth of Nashville, editor of the Cumberland Presbyterian. The Rev. R. J. Kirkpatrick of Los Angeles, Cal., nominated the Rev. J. R. Dr. Walker then withdrew his name and Dr. Bird was elected. The retiring moderator, the Rev. J. M. Haisell of Houston, Tex., delivered the sermon. The assembly will be in session a week. was considerable rivalry between the East,

WANT MORE RAPID TRANSIT WAYS. Queens Speaks for a Tunnel and The Bronx for Extensions.

The Rapid Transit Commission gave a public hearing yesterday to the people of Queens borough who want a tunnel under the East River and to the people of The Bronx who want more rapid transit than the main line promises E. C. Moore of the New York and Queens County Railway Company asked for a tunnel from Borden avenue, Long Island City, to Forty-third street, up Forty-third street to Depew place, to Forty-second street, there to connect with the Rapid Transit Subway already contracted for. Mr. Moore said that the total cost would be $2,750,000 and that the tunnel would accommodate annually 18,000,000 pas sengers who now have to depend on ferries. W. W. Niles said that the people of The Bronx needed a rapid transit route to extend from the line already proposed, north from 148th street to the ciry line, either along Jerome a venue of the proposed Concourse. Mr. Niles suggested that, for the sake of temporary but more immediate relief for The Bronx the Rapid Transit Commissioners use their influence with the New York Central and the New Haven railroads to get direct connection at the Grand Central station between the subway and the local tracks of the steam roads. "The tracks used for the local passenger trains," said Mr. Niles, "could be depressed and carried under Forty-second street into the tunnel. The third-rail electric system could then be adopted on the Harlem River and Portchester branches and the subway ears from City Hail run direct to the different parts of The Bronx, as the subway tracks are to be of standard gauge." needed a rapid transit route to extend from the ROUNDSMAN MILES HE IS. Girl's Brave Rescuer Promoted for His Plucky Deed - Will Recover.

Chief of Police Devery, accompanied by Inspector Harley and Capt. Delaney went to Bellevue Hospital yesterday to learn the condition of Policeman William A. Miles, who at the risk of his life saved Miss Nora Murray from burning to death in the boarding house at 212 East Thirty-third street on Wednesday night. Miles had regained consciousness after many hours and the Chief was allowed to see him. Chief Devery went to Miles's bedside and gave the policeman two pieces of good news. Miles had been made a roundsman for his brave deed, the Chief told him, and the hospital surcovering from his injuries.

Miss Murray's condition was about the same last night. There is a chance for her life, but it is a slender one. Her father came from her home in Naragansett vesterday and last night went to the hospital. He was very anxious to see his daughter's rescuer, and after much coaxing the surgeons agreed to let him see Miles, providing he did not speak to the policeman. Murray gave one look at Miles and left the ward, the tears streaming down his face.

'Tis easy to forget that though at certain places you can buy all sorts of stuff at all-sorts-of-stuff prices, few of the so-called "best places" have boys' wash suits at less than $3.

We're peculiar.

We give the best-place sort at an all-sort-of-stuff price-$1.25 for blouse sailor wash suits.

Of course we've others running up to the most elaborately trimmed at top-mast price; but they're plenty of those at $1.25 for the $1.25 seekers. ROGERS, PEET & COMPANY.

TWO KORTRIGHT WILLS.

One Leaves All to the Wife, One Nothing, but All to the Child.

Two wills of Gouverneur Kortright were filed yesterday. He died in a sanitarium after separating from his second wife Theresa. His child by his first wife was given by the courts, after litigation in which the father's sanity was questioned, into the custody of its mother's sister. Miss Ada Phipps. One of the wills, filed by the widow, was made on Jan. 22, 1894, before Kortright had had any difficulty with her. It gave her all his estate, including all property over which he had the power of appointment by wills of relatives. It also made her guardian of the person and estate of his child, and named her person and estate of his child, and named her as sole executrix. In her petition for the probate of this will Mrs. Kortright says that she does not know the value of the estate of her husband, but that the realty exceeds $5,000 and the personalty exceeds $10,000. The estate is really large. The widow has independent means.

The other will was executed June 7, 1898, soon after Kortright parted from his wife. This will names his sister-in-law, Miss Phipps, guardian of his child, and bequeathes all his property to his child. Miss Phipps is made sole executrix. The second will was filed by Miss Phipps through Bowers & Sands. Nicoll, Anable & Lindsay are the widow's counsel.

The double-deck bridge plans call for a superimposed trackage for trolley lines, six tracks for steam cars below and six for trolley cars above.
